

TABLE OF CONTENTS – Veterinary Ethics: Navigating Tough Cases

Contributors' biographies

Contributors to chapter scenarios

Foreword

Acknowledgements

How to use this book

1 What Is Veterinary Ethics I And Why Does It Matter? 1

1.1 What is ethics? 1

1.2 What makes a decision ethical? 3

1.3 Why should veterinarians and associated professionals be concerned with ethics? 4

1.4 Why is ethics challenging? 6

1.5 Why should we study veterinary ethics? 8

1.6 Who is worthy of ethical consideration? 12

1.7 Ethics and animal welfare 18

1.8 Veterinary ethical dilemmas 26

1.9 Impact of ethical dilemmas and ethical conflict on veterinarians and associated professionals 28

1.10 Ethical policies 30

2 Making Ethical Decisions 37

2.1 How are ethical decisions made and justified? 37

2.2 Ethical theories and ethical frameworks 37

2.3 What is applied ethics? 37

2.4 What does ethical decision-making involve? 38

2.5 Ethical frameworks used in veterinary practice 39

3 Animal Death 71

3.1 Does animal death matter? 71

3.2 Ensuring welfare at slaughter 80

3.3 Killing some to save others 83

3.4 Convenience euthanasia 89

3.5 Euthanasia or allowed to die? 95

3.6 Companion animal hospice 100

4 Animal Use 109

4.1 Animal use and animal welfare 116

4.2 Food and production animals 121

4.3 Idiosyncracies in animal usage 132

4.4 Animal use across cultures 139

4.5 Experimentation on laboratory animals 143

4.6 Personal values vs professional responsibilities 146

5 Veterinary Treatment 155

5.1 Barriers to treatment 156

5.2 Individual versus group health 160

5.3 Costs and benefits of treatment 165

5.4 Transplants and transfusions 170

5.5 Actual and potential patients Inherited disease 178

5.7 Alternative treatment modalities 183

5.8 Quality of life 189

6 Money 197

6.1 Owners unable to afford veterinary care 197

6.2 Unowned animals 209

6.3 Pet insurance 212

6.4 Fair distribution of healthcare resources 216

6.5 Financial conflicts of interest 219

7 Professionalism 226

7.1 Confidentiality 226

7.2 Conflicts of interest 239

7.3 Personal and professional values 248

7.4 "What would you do if it was your animal?" 251

7.5 Beyond the call of duty? 255

7.6 Challenges to professionalism 260

7.7 Can professionals have a sense of humour? 268

8 Errors and Complications 275

8.1 Costs of complications 276

8.2 Error disclosure 280

8.3 Professional relationships and disclosure 287

9 Consent 297

9.1 Difficulties in obtaining consent 298

9.2 Acting without consent 312

9.3 How much disclosure is required for consent? 316

9.4 Consent for novel procedures 321

10 Education and Training 327

10.1 Animal use in education and training 327

10.2 Volunteering 332

10.3 Moral development and professional identity formation 338

10.4 Learning from patients 341

10.5 Evidence-based veterinary medicine 347

10.6 Oversupply of veterinarians 359

11 Team Relations 367

11.1 Social media and the veterinary team 368

11.2 Substandard practice 373

11.3 Off duty 380

11.4 Colleagues in distress 383

12 Working With the Law 391

12.1 Animal welfare legislation 392

12.2 Legislation with animal welfare implications 405

12.3 Exotic and illegal animals 408

13 One Health 421

13.1 Medicine for all? 424

13.2 Antimicrobial use 428

13.3 Zoonoses 434

13.4 Human-animal bond 439

13.5 Animal abuse 444

14 Wildlife 453

14.1 To treat or euthanase? 455

14.2 Euthanasia and killing of captive animals 461

14.3 Conservation 466

14.4 Wildlife as pest species 470

14.5 Cultural and religious rights versus animal welfare 477

15 Changing and Cloning Animals 485

15.1 Permanent physical alterations and mutilations 486

15.2 Breeding animals 491

15.3 Artificial breeding techniques 500

15.4 Changing animal behaviour 507

Final word 515

Index 518.